

“THERESE DESQUEYROUX”

The novel THERESE DESQUEYROUX is Mauriac's best known work, and was described as "outstanding" in the biography that accompanied his Nobel Literature Prize citation.

On 3 June 1950, Le Figaro named it as one of the winners of the "Grand Prix des meilleurs romans du demi-siècle", a prestigious literary competition to find the twelve best French novels of the first half of the twentieth century.

In 1999, it came 35th in a national poll to find the 100 best French works of the 20th century.
